

Repository Fringe 2016 Programme
#rfringe16

Open Educational Resources
The Nuts and Bolts of Open
Making a Difference with Data

Monday 1st August

Time	Pentland Suite
9.00 – 9.30	Registration & Coffee (Centro) - supported by EPrints
9.30 – 9.45	Welcome to Repository Fringe 2016 Gavin McLachlan, CIO and Librarian to the University of Edinburgh
9.45 – 10.45	Keynote 'Your OERs will outlast you: Open Education in the long term' Dr Martin Poulter, University of Bristol
10.45 – 11.00	Coffee Break (Centro) - supported by Arkivum
11.00 – 11.40	'Who gives a Tweet? At the intersection of repositories and social media' Les Carr, University of Southampton
11.40 – 12.30	The Nuts and Bolts of Open - 24 x 7 sessions 1. "'Make all research open through repositories.'" Europe's Open Access Champions' Vanessa Proudman, SPARC Europe 2. 'Library-led or demand-led publishing? How Edinburgh Open Journal has evolved to meet academic and student requirements for a supported open access publishing platform' Angela Laurins, University of Edinburgh 3. 'Jisc SHERPA REF' Adam Field, Jisc 4. 'The COAR Next Generation Repositories Project' Paul Walk, EDINA 5. 'Making the most of what we have got: RADAR and annual research planning' Nicola Siminson, Glasgow School of Art Chair: Dominic Tate, University Library & Collections
12.30 – 13.15	Lunch (Centro) - supported by Eprints
13.15 – 13.50	Keynote 'Research in the Living Lab: What role for data repositories?' Professor Ewan Klein, University of Edinburgh with introduction by Pauline Ward, EDINA
13.50 – 14.50	Keynote 'More than just a CRIS - How CRISin is building a national infrastructure for Open Access' Nina Karlstrøm, Current Research Information System in Norway (CRISin) with introduction by Dominic Tate, University of Edinburgh
14.50 – 15.20	Coffee Break (Centro)
15.20 – 17.00

15.20 – 17.00	Open Educational Resources - 24 x 7 sessions <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. 'Developing an OER repository at Glasgow Caledonian University' Toby Hanning, Glasgow Caledonian University 2. 'No ifs, and, or buts, just IIF' Claire Knowles, University of Edinburgh 3. 'Open Data for an Open World: learning about Knowledge Societies through OER datasets' Virginia Power, University of the West of England 4. 'Supporting Good Practice in the use of OER' Pete Cannell, Opening Educational Practices in Scotland project Chair: Anne-Marie Scott, University of Edinburgh
	Making a Difference with Data - 24 x 7 sessions <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. 'Keeping research data alive and usable: putting preservation into practice' Matthew Addis, Arkivum 2. 'Capturing and utilising information about impact of research' Carlos Galan-Diaz, University of Glasgow 3. 'Why should research software be persistently identified and should data repositories care?' Catherine Jones, Science and Technology Facilities Council 4. 'Introducing scientometrics in the CORE Repositories Dashboard : a proposal' Nancy Pontika & Peter Knoth, CORE 5. 'Too Rich to Keep: Sharing the Wealth of Clinical Data to Enhance Patient Treatments' Cyril Pernet, University of Edinburgh 6. 'Sharing Thesis Data – how can we make it happen?' Stephen Grace, London South Bank University 7. 'Mapping actions to results: using data to motivate and refine outreach activities' Steve Smith, Kudos Innovations Ltd 8. 'Why Stop at Open? Using qualitative, sociological, restricted access data in the Timescapes archive as a training resource' Rachel Proudfoot, University of Leeds Chair: Pauline Ward, EDINA
17.00 – 17.30	Closing Summary, Day 1 Anne-Marie Scott, University of Edinburgh - Learning, Teaching & Web
17.30 – 19.30	Drinks Reception (The Salisbury Arms) - supported by Figshare

Martin Poulter

'Your OERs will outlive you: Open Education in the long term'

This talk is about the seeming paradox of the long-term sustainability of educational resources which need continuous evolution to stay relevant. The preservation of the utility of educational content is more challenging than just preserving that content. I will defend a web-of-knowledge approach rather than an atomistic approach. In the increasing ubiquity of these webs of knowledge justifies optimism about the sustainability of open educational resources and communities.

Professor Ewan Klein

'Research in the Living Lab: What role for data repositories?'

A Living Lab methodology involves carrying out research “in the wild”, where as far as possible we treat human participants as co-creators rather than experimental subjects, and try to address research issues that are embedded in everyday situations. We use a wide variety of kinds of data, both qualitative and quantitative, and treat evidence as a contested space which is open to negotiation. The approach raises a number of challenges for data sharing and data repositories. I will focus on two salient (and related) issues: (i) an increasingly large volume of data will be streamed from sensors, and (ii) much of the data collected is likely to be personal.

Nina Karlstrøm

'More than just a CRIS - How CRISTin is building a national infrastructure for Open Access'

Nina Karlstrøm is Head of the License and Open Access group at CRISTin – Current Research Information System in Norway. CRISTin, as well as being the national CRIS for Norway, also acts as national coordinator for work on open access, and manages license agreements on behalf of Norwegian research libraries. Nina is on the Executive Committee of the CERN initiated SCOAP3 project, and she represents CRISTin as partner in the EU funded projects OpenAIRE and PASTEUR4OA